Subject: Investor Relations Role

I am looking to fill a role in the company and expect that I will have to recruit externally.

As a recipient of this email you have either worked with me or have some notion of what I am like and will expect! So I thought I'd let you know that I am looking to fill this role in case there is someone you think might be interested.

The role would initially be an analyst position - split roughly 50/50 between the IR side and working directly on stuff for me. But the incumbent will also need to play an increasingly active role on the IR side over time, being able to fill in for the IR Manager when needed, so confidence and communication skills will be equally important attributes in addition to sound analytical skills.

Preferred attributes for the role are:

- Some measure of financial training or experience so has to have familiarity and comfort in working with financial statements.
- Good skills in powerpoint, word and excel.
- "Web-Savvy" - some experience or knowledge in building web pages preferred but not essential.
- Good standard of English essential; Cantonese desirable
- Confident, articulate

Work will tend to be project and ad-hoc oriented, so incumbent will need to be pro-active and able to work with minimal supervision.

So if you know of someone who this might suit please let me know.

Regards,
Ken Cambie
